I am thrilled to announce that we have been accredited by NAEYC! This is great honor that means our early learning program is being recognized nationally for our dedication to providing high-quality early learning experiences for children and their families, like you!

This school year has been such an exciting experience for the children, parents and our staff. The children had the opportunity to go on many field trips. Parents were also welcomed to go and enjoy some of those trips as well. As I reflect on the learning experiences in the classrooms; the children were able to explore the study of cars, babies, hair salons, water, buildings, fish, the ocean, clothing and many other interesting subjects.

During the Week of the Young Child in April, the children experienced Zumba dancing, cooking and discover new foods. Now that summer is here we want the children to feel free to run and play as much as they would like — please make sure children wear closed toe and heel shoes.

As our children transition into kindergarten we will truly miss them here at Ford Heights Early Learning. We are so excited about their journeys to new learning experiences, though!

Remember to use this time over the summer to reflect and review what your child teacher has discussed with you during Parent Teacher Conferences goals — and remember to take time out to have fun with your child over the summer months!

One more thing...congratulations to the Ford Heights parents who received their certificate of completion of the Parenting Fundamentals classes!
